SAFE-EYES Mesh Goggles STANDARDS STATEMENT

SAFE-EYES mesh goggles conform to and exceed the testing requirements of the UK standard BS EN 1731:2006. Kiwi Ideas Limited confirms they have been tested to this Standard by the United Kingdom standards testing authority and hold this BS EN 1731-2006 standard.

SAFE-EYES mesh goggles hold the “CE” mark which also confirms to the purchaser that the product is continually and rigorously “Quality Assurance” checked and retested to ensure they continue to conform to the rigorous requirements of the United Kingdom testing standard.

All relevant documentation relating to the UK Testing and Standards are available to legally confirm the status of the SAFE-EYES mesh goggles.

Neither Australia nor New Zealand has a standard set for mesh goggles. However the relevant the Australian Standards Authority has agreed to review the AS/NZS 1337 eyewear standard to include a test for SAFE-EYES mesh goggles. This will be set in the near future by the standards review committee SF 006

Once completed, Kiwi Ideas will submit their SAFE-EYES mesh goggles for testing to the reviewed AS/NZ standard.

Kiwi Ideas Limited does not foresee that there will be any differences in the proposed AS/NZ standard against the UK standard already held, and therefore does not anticipate any difficulties in meeting and exceeding any proposed AS/NZ standard.
